*ATEC 2008 – Alpha Five Technology & Education Conference: This all training event has a central focus on covering various topics on Alpha Five.

On-site Training - We can bring any of our courses to your location. Travel expenses and inconsistent training content getting in your way? You can save money, time, and provide your staff with targeted training when we tailor our courses specifically to your organization. You can train many of your staff at one time for one flat fee. Our onsite training features custom delivery, convenient location, consistent training, and customization. Any database driven course can be taught using your data (restrictions may apply).

Online/On-site Customized Training – All courses can be customized to cover only the topics you want. Course topics can be assembled from the course outlines.

Training Fee - Discounts available if two or more people from same company register and attend or if an attendee registers for two or more classes (rules and restrictions may apply).

Each participant must bring his/her own laptop computer equipped with the appropriate software. Each participant will receive a learning guide. For online training courses, the learning guide will be shipped to the registered participant.

Classes are subject to cancellation due to low enrollment or in other circumstances. Intellectual Business Solutions will notify participants at least 72 hours before class in the event of a cancellation. Intellectual Business Solutions, Inc. is not responsible for any expenses incurred by the student in attending a class.
